Cumberland, Md., Feb. 28.—A landslide occurred on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad yesterday morning between Piedmont and West Virginia Junction. The frost coming out of the ground, coupled with the saturation from the rain, loosened the earth, and about a hundred tons of debris came down on the tracks, extending 100 yards. All trains were sent around the ob-struction over the West Virginia Central, between Rawlings and West Virginia Junction. The tracks were cleared last evening

Electric Lights for Savage.

Savage, Md., Feb. 28.—The work of erecting poles and wires for the lighting of the town of Savage, in Howard county, by electricity has been completed. It is expected the town will be lighted this week. As many as thirty lights have been placed in some private houses. The lights in the streets will be paid for by the commissioners of Howard county. The current is to be furnished from the plant of the Savage Manufacturing Company. Savage is one of the pretriest and most prosperous towns in Maryland. Its population is now Better Facilities for an Enormous Freight Traffic.

Report That a New Bridge Will Span the Potomac Below Cumberland.

Cumberland, Md., Feb. 28,-Former

enator Henry G. Davis, President; Carleton L. Bretz, General Manager, and J. W. Galbreath, Chief Engineer, of the West Virginia Central and Pittsburg Railway, made an inspection of land in South Cumberland yesterday afternoon with the view of improving the terminal facilities of their road. It is proposed to make a connecting yard with the Baltimore and Ohio's extensive terminal in South Cumberland to facilitate the transfer of the enormous freight business of the West Virginia Central. The officials admit that such improvements are contemplated, but say nothing definite has yet been done. A gentleman who is on the inside in railroad matters stated that the conference in Baltimore on the eve of the open-ing of the bids for the State's interest in Chesapeate and Ohio Canal, in which Presidents Cowen and Davis and others participated, resulted in such valuable concessions to the West Virginia Central that the latter decided to make no bid for the canal, which would have afforded a valuable outlet to tidewater. The Baltimore and Ohio, it is stated, contemplates building a bridge over the otomac below Cumberland, almost opposite the Queen City Glass Works, so that the West Virginia Central can make di-rect and prompt transfer to the South Cumberland yards. Only recently the West Virginia Central constructed a terminal connection with the Baltimore and Ohio over the old canal wharf at consid-erable expense, but business has so grown that still greater facilities are demanded. that still greater facilities are demanded. Should the bridge be built the Bailtimore and Ohio, too, may use it as a short cut west. In this way the circuit around Cumberland, or about two miles, would be saved and an almost straight line connection vould be made. It is said that the company has had in view several years this short cut around Cumberland. If would not only save time but do away

Mr. Chartrand is a citizen of the United States, his former home having been in South Carolina. Through the State Department he has lodged a claim against Spain for $16,000 for the buildings destroyed on his Cuban estates. All of the structures on the lands, he says, including dwellings and barns, were razed to the ground or burned. Their owner says he was not molested in his possessions or business even while the internal strife went on until the authorities became aware that he was not a Frenchman, as they supposed, but an American. Then they concluded to drive him out. He accordingly left the island in September, 1896. Since them Mr. Chartrand has lived in Ellicott City and New York. He is adin Ellicott City and New York. A rich man died the other day. He died in the very midsummer of life, and he left his family $1,000,000. The doctor's certificates showed that death resulted from styphoid fever. The doctor himself said to a friend: "That by neglect of symptoms which have been warning him a year past, that his stomach was failing in its duties."

The symptoms of a disordered condition of the stomach and the organs of digestion and nutrition are, among others, variable appetite, sour risings, heartburn, undue fullness after eating, dull headache, dingy complexion, discolored eye, fluctuations in physical strength, nervousness, sleeplessness, despondency. No one person will have all these symptoms at once, but any one of them calls for prompt aid for the suffering stomach.

The restoration of the stomach, digestive and nutritive organs to a condition of sound

The restoration of the stomach, digestive and nutritive organs to a condition of sound health, begins with the first dose of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. The cure progresses from that dose until the functions of the stomach and its related organs are in healthy operation. Then the nerves are quiet, the appetite healthful, the sleep restful, the eye bright, the complexion clear. In one word the body is in a condition of perfect health.
